ABOUT THE EVENT

The MicroDwell Movement has taken over. People are shrinking their living quarters to decrease their carbon footprint, get rid of excess clutter, and live smaller and smarter.

Shemer Art Center is seeking artists, designers, architects, builders, or a collaborative team to construct a microdwelling on the grounds and orchard of the Center to be exhibited from February 15 – March 23, 2014.

All dwellings must be 600 square feet or less. Design and construction should demonstrate simpler, eco-friendly living, a diversity of materials, low-cost variable sizes, for a variety of purposes including but not limited to studio spaces, living spaces, or small abodes for families to share playtime activities. If interested you will be required to attend a special orientation presented by Patrick McCue, MicroDwell Coordinator, on Thursday evening, September 5, 2013, at 6:30 PM at the Shemer Art Center, 5005 East Camelback Road.
